

Bilateral Coordination for the Enhancement and Development of S&T Partnerships between the European Union and the United States of America

Save the date

“Tour d’Europe” Workshop on US-Funding Opportunities

On Friday, 1st June 2018, a full-day workshop will take place at the University of Göttingen in order to promote various cooperation and funding opportunities between Europe and the USA.

Topics covered in the workshop will include, amongst others, identifying funding possibilities, understanding rules and regulations, proposal development and submission incl. financial issues, managing projects, and ensuring compliance. The content is flexible, however, and adjusted according to the demand from the participants.

The workshop takes place within the BILAT USA 4.0 project, funded by the European Union, with the overall aim to enhance, support and further develop the research and innovation cooperation between the European Union and the United States of America.

Speakers are

- Jennifer Ponting, Director, Pre-Award Services, Office for Sponsored Programs, Harvard University
- Caroline Jones, Assistant Director of Pre-Award Operations, Office of Sponsored Research Stanford University
- Regina Notz, Research and Project Manager, EU GrantsAccess, ETH Zürich

Invited to participate are researchers and research administrators (pre- and post-award).

We will provide you with a more detailed program in due time.