Zeitraum: 21.09.2020 - 22.09.2020 Ort: online

This year, the European University Association EUA brings the university community together online to discuss funding in an event scheduled on 21-22 September 2020.

The sessions will address the issues in the field, focusing on the financial and economic impact of the Covid-19 crisis on the higher education sector. As universities prepare for an academic year unlike any other before, the community must reflect collectively on the medium and long-term impact of a potential economic crisis. This is the focus of an EUA analysis released in May 2020.

EUA members will have exclusive access to specific sessions dedicated to exchanging institutional crisis management strategies and perspectives for the next period. The online event will also allow the community to engage in a dialogue with policymakers about funding university transformation, as well as perspectives for European funding to the sector as of next year.

The sessions on 21 September are reserved to EUA members only. For registration contact the EUA events team. The sessions on 22 September are free of charge and open to all interested participants upon registration.
