Doing Business in Mexico 2014— the fifth subnational report of the Doing Business series in Mexico—compares business regulations in 31 states and Mexico City. The report focuses on federal, state and municipal regulations that affect 4 stages in the life of a small to medium-size domestic firm: starting a business, dealing with construction permits, registering property and enforcing contracts. The report finds that each of the 31 states and Mexico City improved in at least one of the benchmarked areas, making it easier for local entrepreneurs to start and operate a business.
