SAFE FOOD FOR EUROPE

FOODSEG Network (2014⁺),
FOODSEG Symposium 2015 – what is it?

What is FOODSEG all about?

FOODSEG network 2014⁺ is a follow up-network based on the completed FP 7-project “FOODSEG”, which was focused on identifying problems and risks all along the foodchain. New ideas to tackle a variety of challenges in the food-safety- and quality have been developed, a variety of scientific expertise encountered each other and this comprehensive approach turned out to be successful.

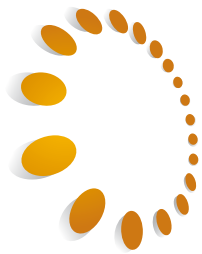

Hence the FOODSEG consortium decided to keep the network alive: A person-based network has been set up and we aim to integrate further experts from all along the whole production chain from agriculture, feed quality and safety, animals, food production, food safety and quality up to the consumers and stakeholders. The FOODSEG network 2014⁺ mainly focuses on bringing people together in order to initiate cooperation, technology and know-how transfer and common research projects. It is also a platform to disseminate results from (EU-) funded research and cooperation projects.

Experts, who are interested in joining our network and to meet regularly in order to discuss research, science, economy and policy in the different fields, are very welcome!

FOODSEG network 2014⁺ offers a few but professional and effective services to its members:

- ❖ Annual FOODSEG Symposium:
members will participate free of charge. Next FOODSEG Symposium will be organized in Rome, Italy, 23rd and 24th of April 2015 and will include also a brokerage event (Host: Istituto Superiore di Sanità, Dario de Medici).
- ❖ Proposal Workshops:
twice a year proposal workshops will be organized in order to support the submission of H2020 projects.
- ❖ FOODSEG Website:
 - promotion of the network members and their expertise
 - regular information on funding opportunities along the feed-food chain, safety and quality
 - dissemination of results from EU funded projects through the FOODSEG database

These services are offered to the members for a small annual fee.
